WINTER HOLIDAY

Another World Premiere for The Old Laundry Theatre!!!

Carnegie Award winning author Arthur Ransome is best known for his Swallows and Amazons adventure books which have sold around 7 million copies.

Winter Holiday is his fans' favourite (written in 1933) and is based on his own childhood memories of watching wide-eyed as Windermere froze over. In it the children find themselves quarantined (where have we heard that word before!) and attempt a sledging journey to the very northern tip of the lake... to their very own North Pole. But their trek is dogged by blizzards and doctor's orders... and spirals into a chaotic race against time. Even the 'retired pirate', Captain Flint, struggles to save the day.

This is a charming and entertaining family show... full of nostalgia for adults and excitement for children... performed by a dozen highly experienced adult actor/musicians, all channelling their own childhoods.

Writer Chris Eldon Lee is a lifelong Swallows and Amazons fan who once coracled to Wild Cat Island. He was for many years an award-winning BBC Radio 4 producer. This is his 15th play.

"Winter Holiday is the best kind of adventure story". The Observer

"Hair-raising, credible and amusing". The Spectator

"Mr Ransome's imagination is as deep as the waters of his lake".
